Work of Stallings In Baseball World Made Much History

Death of "Miracle Man" Removes Famous Figure From Diamond—Proved and Disproved Theories in Game—Was Driver of Men

By FORD SAWYER

Written Exclusively for The Colonist and the North American Newspaper Alliance. (Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

BOSTON, Mass., May 13.—George Tweedy Stallings was best known for his success in managing the Boston Braves, when, in 1914 he led a club much underrated and in eighth place on July 4, smashing and batting through to a National League championship and the world title.

Only two clubs in the history of the world series ever disposed of their opponents in a four-game series in the Fall classic. George Stallings' Braves of 1914, the team that wouldn't be beaten, was one of these and the New York Yankees was the other club, but they performed the feat twice—against Pittsburgh in 1927 and against St. Louis in 1928.

Stallings earned the sobriquet of the "Miracle Man" by his brilliant accomplishment in 1914, his second season at the helm of the Boston Club, but long before this he had earned a name for himself as a successful baseball manager.

He faced a discouraging task when he assumed charge of the playing destinies of the Boston Braves in the Spring of 1913. The Boston entry in the National League had reposed in the cellar for four successive seasons and had been unable to climb out of the second division in ten years.

The veteran leader realized the task before him and he lost little time in sifting and weeding, in adding and cutting adrift.

SECURED JOHNNY EVERS

One of his master strokes was securing Johnny Evers from the Chicago Cubs. Hub Perdue was sent along to St. Louis in exchange for Ted Cather and George Whitted. "Red" Smith was bought from the Brooklyn club. Herb Moran was secured from the Cincinnati Reds. "Butch" Schmidt was added from the Baltimore Orioles and many other important additions were made to the club roster.

One of George Stallings' first and one of his most important moves was the signing of Fred Mitchell as coach. "Mitch" is given much of the credit for the development of the pitching staff, especially the big three, Tyler, Rudolph and Bill James, who carried much of the box work.

Stallings was a real driver of men, but he was a leader as well. Baseball was serious business with him and he wanted his players to regard it in such a light. He brought with him a forceful, dynamic personality, "that heart-breaking determination to win," as he himself described it, but most of all things he brought to his new task an unshaken confidence in himself and an ability to instill in his players a confidence in him and in themselves.

DRILLED IN CONFIDENCE

From the time he assumed charge of the team, Stallings drilled continually into his men the belief that they could win, that they would win, and that they must win or make room for others. Superstitious himself, to a high degree, he encouraged the belief in his men, and this undoubtedly had something to do with their success.

It was a fighting, peppery outfit which Stallings built up in Boston—a team which played fast, heads-up baseball, which took advantage of every break and which had supreme confidence.

Stallings had what might be termed a dual personality. Off the field, quiet, reserved, dignified, on the bench he was a fiery personality, with a flow of language either condemnatory or complimentary as the occasion might require. So intent was he on the game that he couldn't keep still on that bench.

THEORY DISPROVED

The Stallings system, by which the Boston Braves won the world's championship in 1914, proved one theory of modern baseball, and disproved another. The former was that right-hand batters are more successful against left-hand pitchers and vice versa. The theory disproved was that it was necessary to have a large pitching staff to win a pennant.

In order to carry out the idea of batting, Stallings carried two complete outfields, using the trio that batted right-handed when southpaw pitchers opposed the Braves, and the left-handed hitting outfielders against right-hand pitchers.

Manager Stallings' theory that pitchers could take their turn in the box after two days' rest was borne out when he used Dick Rudolph and Bill James, right handers, and Lefty Tyler, southpaw, in regular turn during the last half of the National League season and through the World Series.

Alec Broke in When Ruth Was Sixteen

By AL DEMAREE

(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

"Old Alec" the fans call Grover Cleveland Alexander, the great pitcher of the St. Louis Cardinals, but they probably don't realize just how much that means.

Alexander is now pitching his nineteenth season in the majors. He was pitching in the sticks for several years before he came up. Nineteen years is a pretty long time in anybody's racket, and it is a very long time in sports. Just how long it is may be judged from the fact that there isn't another man who was in the big leagues when Alec broke in, still playing regularly.

Nineteen years ago Dempsey and Ruth were sixteen. Babe's homers were undreamed of, because they were still using the old dead ball then.

Tommy Burns was heavyweight champ, and Jim Corbett still thought he could fight and was challenging Jack Johnson.

Bobby Jones was seven years old, and Helen Wills was about five.

Jim Thorpe was playing football at Carlisle. He had yet to win the Olympic crown and have his cups taken away from him.

As Told by Big Leaguers

Talking Today

EARL COMBS: A Joke That Dented My Big League Record.

ZACK WHEAT: My Most Unusual Pinch Hit.

CY PERKINS: A Recruit Pitcher Meets a Vicious Hitting Club.

By J. P. GLASS

Earl Combs, the great outfielder of the Yankees, has one deep-seated regret. Once he made himself a party to a little joke which has put an unpleasant dent in his record as a batter.

"It was toward the close of the 1926 season," says Earl.

"We were in St. Louis, playing in the final game of the schedule. We had the pennant cinched and the Browns were getting nowhere, so we cut loose and make a joke affair of it.

"The fans enjoyed this a lot. So did the players. I remember that George Sisler pitched one inning and I took three wild swings in fun and sat down.

"George might have fanned me or stopped me from getting a hit had I batted seriously. I don't know about that. But I wish I hadn't entered the joke so whole-heartedly. Had I taken care and hit one safe I would not have had a batting record of .299 for the season. That's the record I got through my strike out.

"I've never batted under .300 in any other season since I started playing professional baseball. So I feel sick whenever I thing of that .299.

CALLED ZACK BACK

Zack Wheat, the former great outfielder who has quit baseball for farming after twenty-three years of professional fly-chasing, told me that the most unusual pinch-hit he ever made was at the expense of Bill Doak, of St. Louis, who later became Zack's team mate at Brooklyn.

The Cardinals were playing in Brooklyn," says Zack. "I was out of the game from some sort of injury.

"Toward the close of the game as Doak had us beaten two to one and seemed to have our number, I thought I'd slip to the showers ahead of the rest of the gang, so as to get home as early as possible. I remember I passed Doak going out and said, 'It looks like you'd won another one, Bill.'

"I was just passing under the stand when I heard yells of 'Wheat! Wheat!'

"Robby was calling me back to pinch-hit—which my injury wasn't bad enough to keep me from doing.

"Darned if I didn't hit a home run on the first ball pitched, tying up the game.

"Luckily for Bill, St. Louis won out in the tenth inning."

MET THE TIGERS

Some years ago according to Cy Perkins, of the Athletics, Connie Mack was tipped off to a fellow down in New Jersey who was pitching and winning games with considerable regularity. At the time Connie didn't have so many good box artists, but that he could use a few more, so this youngster, whom we will call Jones, was told to report. He didn't have a thing, it developed, but somehow he won one game and only lost another by a close score, so Connie kept him around awhile. He was a studious, gentlemanly fellow, always with a book or magazine under his arm.

"I could catch him with a finger mitt," says Cy.

"The first game he pitched was against the St. Louis Browns. After they had batted around once, Ken Williams remarked, 'Say, what are they trying to make out of this game,' and Marty McManus said 'I can hit this fellow at midnight.'

"Somehow, though, he beat the Browns. In our next series, at Cleveland, the Indians only won from him 2-1, so when he reached Detroit he was started against the Tigers.

"Heilmann, Veach and Cobb already had heard about him, and were anxious to see what he had. All three slammed terrific line drives right past his ears their first time up. As the recruit passed Billy Evans, who was umpiring, on his way to the bench he remarked

"'My goodness, Mr. Evans, that's the most vicious hitting club ever I saw.'"

Mr. Jones departed from the big leagues that very night.

YOUNGSTERS TO MEET FOR GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Bob Morrison Will Defend Uplands Title Against Harold Brynjolfson on May 24

SUNDAY'S MATCHES KEENLY CONTESTED

On May 24, Victoria Day, while thousands of citizens will be enjoying the fun and merriment arranged for them throughout the city, two youngsters, Bob Morrison and Harold Brynjolfson, will be battling over the thirty-six-hole route at the Uplands Golf Club for the club championship. These two youths reached the final as a result of Sunday's matches in the quarter-final and semis.

Morrison, the defending title-holder, set aside A. C. Falk in the morning, 3 and 2, and eliminated Percy Edmonds, a veteran and ex-champion in the afternoon, in what turned out to be a one-sided affair, 7 and 6. As luck would have it, Harold Brynjolfson was drawn against his younger brother, Clarence in the morning round, and only after a hectic struggle which ended on the seventeenth green, did Harold come through to victory. Clarence for the past two years was runner-up for the title. In 1927 he lost to A. V. Price, 2 and 5, and last year bowed to Morrison, 5 and 4.

Brynjolfson continued his pace in the afternoon and defeated Bill Pomeroy, after the latter had carried him to the seventeenth. In the final for the first flight C. Morrison will face Jack Oddy.

BABE RUTH TAKES LEAD IN BIG SIX

Bambino Displaces Gehrig as Leader—Hornsby Gets Back Into .300 Class

BABE Ruth has reached the climax of his long climb in the Big Six standing by displacing his slugging twin, Lou Gehrig, from first place yesterday. Each got one hit in the ninth inning against Cleveland, but the Babe had only two official trips to the plate, while Lou made four. Ruth's average went up three points to .368, while Gehrig's dropped six to .365.

Jim Bottomley did the rest of the climbing in the Big Six yesterday, getting four hits in four times at bat in the slugging match between the Cards and the Phillies. His average rose suddenly from .263 to .294, but he failed to displace Hornsby from fourth place. The Rajah came back into the .300 class with two hits in four tries. Goose Goslin, kept idle by rain, remained safely in third place, while Paul Waner dropped a bit further into the cellar with but one hit in five times at bat.

GOLF
AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Is it good practice to use a brassie in driving from the tee? If so, why? If not, why not?

Answered by JOE KIRKWOOD

If a brassie is to be used for tee shots, it is advisable to use a driving brassie. And, where the club has sufficient loft, it may be used for both tee and fairway shots.

The fewer clubs a golfer has to familiarize himself with, the better he is able to play them. Using a driving brassie is a means toward that end.

There are plenty of leading golfers who use the driving brassie for tee shots, and who obtain excellent results in this manner.

Jack Dempsey Involved in Row at Party

NEW YORK, May 13.—The Daily News today printed an account of an altercation between Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, and Joe Benjamin, a former lightweight, at a party in a hotel.

As the story goes there were words over girls at the party, and Jack gave Joe a short crushing right. Joe went down and got up again. Dempsey left. Benjamin yelled after him to return and fight. He did not.

OPENING BASEBALL GAME IS WON BY THE JOKERS

Down Sons of Canada 8-7; Stickney Checks In With Winning Run

Former Chemainus Southpaw Makes Debut With Local Club and Grabs Off Initial Contest —Mayor Officiates in Opening Ceremony

THAT first victory of the season, which is sometimes termed the sweetest of all, went to the Joker balltossers last night at the Royal Athletic Park, when they chalked up an 8-7 win over the Sons of Canada in the opening fixture of the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

Wesley Stickney, former Chemainus southpaw and now a member of the Jokers' heaving staff, made his local debut in great style by checking in with the winning run in the first of the seventh and winning his own game.

For the curtain raiser the brand of ball dished up was commendable. True, there were errors, some very costly, but on the other hand there was some snappy ball. A crowd of about 600 people turned out to witness the initial struggle between the champions of the Commercial and Senior Amateur Leagues of last season, and to say that they all went away satisfied, would be a safe assumption.

The season was officially opened by Mayor Herbert Anscomb, who heaved the first ball. Alderman James Adam, the batter, was struck out as the third strike was caught by William Oliphant, Jr., president of the league.

SCORE IN FIRST

In the first inning runs started to come in with each of the teams checking in one apiece.

Stickney started the fireworks in the next session after two previous batters had been retired by a snappy double play, by crashing out a hot double. Campbell, Collins and Devereaux followed, and each connected with Kerr's offerings for safe hits, which resulted in driving three runs across the plate.

Despite a mild wildness by Stickney, in their half of this inning the Canadians were retired without a score.

Jim D'Arcy, playing his first season with the Jokers, sent on of Kerr's straight balls on a ride in the next inning for three bases, and came home on a single to left field by Barry.

SONS TIE SCORE

Jokers went into a slump in their half of the third. A bad peg of a missed third strike allowed Bacon and Colin Campbell to circle the sacks, and then Stickney's wildness contributed a pair of counters and the score board read: Sons of Canada 5, Jokers 5, at the end of this inning.

The Canadians took the lead for the first time during the struggle in the fifth stanza, when they bunched their hits and chalked up two runs.

A barrage of singles in the first of the sixth saw the Jokers even the count again, while they retired their opponents for no runs. A snappy double play by Hap Rivers and Belcher cut off a threatened assault at this stage of the battle.

The winning run came in the first of the seventh when Stickney singled, went to second on a sacrifice by Smith, stole third and waltzed home with the tally when Colin Campbell made a bad peg to third.

Only four men faced Stickney in the final rally of the Canadians. Two of these filed out, one walked and stayed there, and the third whiffed the air.

Jokers nicked Johnny Kerr, on the hillock for the Canadians, for fifteen safeties, while his teammates touched Stickney's offerings for eight safe hits. The former breezed two, and the itter five.

Tomorrow night the Eagles will battle the Tillicums at 6.15 o'clock. Bill Holness is expected to do the heavy work for the lodgemen and will in all probability be opposed by Cann, of the clubmen.

Miss Helen Dawson, the title-holder for the past two years, was completely off form and turned in a card of 112 to tie for third place with Mrs. E. Dakers. Perched in second position, seven strokes behind the medalist was Miss Violet Brakes, with a card of 111. Miss Brakes' performance is exceptionally good, as only a year ago she took to digging divots.

Helen Wills Leads Teammates to Win Over Hollanders

SCHEVENINGEN, Holland, May 13—The first international team contest in the European tennis campaign of Miss Helen Wills and her American teammates, ended today in a victory for the invaders over Holland's girl stars by seven matches to two for the three days of play.

All three of today's encounters went to the Americans, who had gained a lead of four to two in Saturday's and Sunday's matches.

Miss Wills produced one of the singles victories, defeating Miss Rollin Couquerque, 6-1, 6-1; and Miss Edith Cross, of San Francisco, accounted for the other victory, from Miss Canters, 6-3, 6-2. The Californians then paired to beat Miss Kea Bouman and Miss Couquerque in a hard-fought doubles match.

TWO FAVORITES WIN EASILY IN BRITISH GOLF

Joyce Wethered and Glenna Collett Advance With One-Sided Victories in First Round Matches

MARION TURPIE IS ELIMINATED

ST. ANDREW'S, Scotland, May 13.—Joyce Wethered, that British nemesis of all foreign golfers aspiring to capture the British Women's Open golf championship, along with Glenna Collett, United States champion, held the spotlight in today's play as the championship test started over the historic St. Andrew's course. These two stars won their first round matches by very comfortable margins, Miss Wethered defeating Miss Phyllis Lobbett, 6 and 5, while Miss Collett won from Miss Marjorie White, of Roehampton, 5 and 3.

GLENNA COLLETT

The lone Canadian entrant, Mrs. P. J. Mulqueen, of Toronto, played a strong even game to defeat Mrs. Lewis Smith, 1 up.

All eyes today were for Joyce and Glenna. The American girl has come for the third time to seek the title, which no American has been able to win. The British girl star has returned to championship play in an effort to realize her ambition to win the title at St. Andrew's, and to attempt to halt the threat from the United States.

Close observers expect these two to go on to the thirty-six-hole final Friday. They are in opposite sides of the draw and unless one should suffer a reversal of form none of the players grouped with them seems to have the golf equipment to upset the advance calculations.

St. Andrew's was at its best when play started. There was hardly a ripple in the sea and just enough breeze to make the British and American flags on nearby hotels flutter.

ENID WILSON WINS

The young English star, Miss Enid Wilson, took her first match by defeating Joy Winn, 3 and 2.

Miss S. F. Damphey, England, turned in a 3 and 2 victory over Marion Turpie, a native of St. Andrew's, although a resident of the United States since childhood. Miss Turpie is the Southern Women's champion.

Miss Marion Hollins, former women's golf champion of the United States, won her first round match in the British Women's championship by defeating Mrs. R. Finlay, 5 and 3.

Mrs. Temple Dobell, former champion, won from Mrs. George Coates, Ayrshire champion, at the nineteenth hole.

Miss Leslie Brown, young English girl from the Wimbleton Club, defeated Miss Janet Jackson, many times Irish champion, 7 and 6. This result, with Miss Turpie's defeat, were surprises of the morning play.

M'LARNIN OFFERED CHANCE AT DUNDEE

Vancouver Fighter Offered Bout With Welterweight Champion —Location to Be Factor

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Jimmy McLarnin's manager, "Pop" Foster, received tonight a telegram from New York, offering him a match with Joe Dundee, for the welterweight championship. The offer makes no proposals for terms or location. Jimmy and his manager, who were contemplating leaving for California for a short holiday in a few days, may go to New York and discuss terms with McMahon. Location of the fight is doubtful, but this phase of the matter is an important one for McLarnin, who, as one of the 1928-29 classic performers, is considered a big draw for New York fight fans.

Loughran Signed for Go With Braddock, July 18

Light-Heavyweight Champ Will Defend Throne at Yankee Stadium Against Man Who Beat Latzo and Griffiths

By TOMMY LOUGHRAN

Light-Heavyweight Champion of the World

(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

I have signed to defend my light-heavyweight championship against James J. Braddock at the Yankee Stadium, New York, the night of July 18. The bout is scheduled for fifteen rounds, and I believe it will be one of the best of the year.

Beyond all question, Jimmy Braddock is the outstanding contender. He not only beat Pete Latzo decisively, but fractured Pete's jaw and ended the ring career of that very game and durable fighter. He knocked out Tuffy Griffiths in two rounds, and no one else that I know has put Tuffy on the floor. Braddock stopped Jimmy Slattery, who no longer than twelve months ago was regarded as a crack performer.

These startling events, and they were startling to lots of folk, have made Braddock one of the most-talked-of young fellows in the game. Zowie! How he can hit! That right hand of his is one of the best now in evidence, and with the right sort of chance at the chin will bowl anyone over.

REAL CONTENDER

I would rather fight the Jersey City ace than anyone else in the 175-pound class. There is more than one reason for that. In the first place he is a hot favorite in New York, and we should draw a fine gate. In the second place, he is the one real contender.

It isn't necessary to point out that with Braddock disposed of, the class is again bare of competition, and I can devote my thoughts to the heavyweight situation.

For the next couple of months I shall point all my efforts toward getting ready for Braddock. He has an advantage in height and reach, as he tops the six-foot-two mark. He is, besides, the deadliest hitter in the division. He is clean-living, ambitious and always in shape. Certainly he is a dangerous opponent. No one but a fool would take him lightly.

His improvement has been consistent for the last year. Braddock lacked many things only a little while ago, but he studied the game and worked at it with unswerving earnestness. I have nothing but praise for him.

William Muldoon, member of the New York State Athletic Commission, and a great judge of physical values, picked Braddock as a comer several years back, when Jimmy was not very impressive in the eyes of the newspaper men. For a while the Jersey man was little more than mediocre. Then he began to improve steadily, and now he has made himself worthy of a shot at the championship.

Promoters have been dickering for this match for a long time. I am glad it is made.

Net Stars' Departure On Eve of Important Matches Is Criticized

Strange Spectacle Takes Place in Tennis World When Tilden and Hunter Leave as Zone International Games Begin

By VINCENT RICHARDS
Professional Tennis Champion of the World
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

The tennis world has witnessed the strange spectacle of William Tilden, America's ranking player, leaving the United States on the eve of her campaign to win back the cup the last to France in 1927. With Frank T. Hunter, his doubles partner and next in rank, Tilden has sailed for a two months' tour of the tennis centers of Europe, leaving the burden of the international matches in the American zone, at least, to be shouldered by the younger generation.

It is difficult to understand how Tilden could have deserted the scene of battle after leading the forces of the United States for so many years. But he is after bigger game in Europe. He also desires to get as much practice as possible on foreign soil before meeting Lacoste, Cochet, Borotra and their fellows of the French team, in the challenge round, in the event that the United States gets that far and Tilden is drafted for service.

Last year, it will be remembered, Tilden wanted to go abroad early, as representative of the United States Lawn Tennis Association, to become acclimated before the challenge round. The tennis powers, however, turned down his request and he had to defer his departure until June, when he went over with the American team after captaining it through the matches in the American zone.

In spite of that, Tilden still produced a good enough game to defeat Lacoste in the cup matches, and with the extra month of practice and preparation on foreign soil he will have this year it may be expected that he will be even better than he was in 1928.

BEST IN UNITED STATES

Whether or not Tilden can defeat France's aces, Lacoste and Cochet, this year is problematical. He is still the best player we have in the United States, regardless of his defeats in the practice matches at Philadelphia a few days ago. Those defeats can be discounted because Tilden is badly in need of practice and conditioning, whereas John Hennessey, the man who defeated him, has been playing tennis almost continuously since February.

The Philadelphian is a year older now than when he last went up against the French, but the French are still young enough to find that the extra twelve months do not make any difference with them. It is true Cochet has been playing poorly, and that Lacoste has had little practice to date, but you can make up your mind that when the time comes for France to defend the Davis Cup both of them will be in top shape.

Cochet defeated Tilden in the 1928 challenge round, and I think he will win over Big Bill again this year, should they meet. When on his game Cochet is the greatest amateur on the courts, though that is not saying that he is a greater player than Tilden was when the American was in his prime.

Lacoste may not give Tilden as much trouble as Cochet. Big Bill is not playing Lacoste as he used to. He is adopting different tactics from those he employed in their meetings before 1928, and his victory over Rene in the 1928 challenge round is one bit more evidence of the resourcefulness of Tilden and of the keenness of his mind and his ability to adapt his style to the type of player he is meeting.

FRENCH PLAY TO START

In less than two weeks the French championships will get under way, and it is likely Tilden and Hunter will have a chance to pit their strength against the French. I doubt whether Lacoste will play in the tournament, as he has had so little practice, but Cochet and Borotra undoubtedly will be in the lists, and if they are it seems almost certain that one or both of them will go up against the Americans.

Do not be disappointed if Tilden makes a poor showing in this championship. As I have said, he has had too little practice to be at his best form. I look for Hunter to make a better showing than his partner, for this first few weeks they are abroad.

By Wimbledon time, however, Tilden should be thoroughly fit, and it will be on the basis of his performance on the Green turf of the All-England Tennis Club that we can judge what to expect of him in the challenge round against the French.

ROAD RACE WILL BE HELD MAY 23

Fritz Mercur, of Bethlehem, Pa., accompanied the team as a practice player.

George Lott, the fourth member of the American zone team, which was chosen here last week, is not expected to make the trip to Canada, although he will be available if needed.

Regains Canadian Flyweight Crown

FRENCHY BELANGER

TORONTO, May 13. — Frenchy Belanger, Toronto, reacquired the Canadian flyweight title here tonight from Harry Hill, Montreal, who only a few weeks ago toppled the crown from Belanger's head.

The Toronto lad won tonight in the sixth round, being awarded a technical knockout.

BURNSIDE LAWN BOWLERS ENJOY BELLINGHAM TRIP

Burnside lawn bowlers' first visit to the new club at Bellingham on Friday was greatly enjoyed. It is another advance in the progress of this old game, which is creating much social and international intercourse among the communities on this coast.

Bellingham gave the Victoria bowlers a great reception and promised to come to the capital city of British Columbia for the great open tournament next August.

The Burnsiders won on all four teams, the Americans being still in the initial stages of the game, but with many players of great possibilities when they have had a few more lessons.

Walter Tupman, Frank Byng and George Wallace were the speakers for British Columbia. Henry Rooley and C. Lyle were hosts for the Bellingham club.

FAVORITES HOLD SWAY AT COLWOOD

Results of First and Second Rounds for Club Title Turn Out as Predicted at Week-End Meet

McQUADE FORCED OUT OF TOURNEY

As predicted, the favorites ruled the fairways in the first and second rounds of the Colwood Club championship flights. After some merry battles, eight members of the club will tee off next Sunday in the quarter-finals to be played in the forenoon.

Owing to E. C. McQuade, the defending champion, being unable to carry out his scheduled matches, as he was suddenly called out of town, the title is open for competition among the remaining players. Harold Linsdale, the medalist, and rated as Colwood's topnotcher, had a comparatively easy time and disposed of E. N. Horsey, 6 and 4, and Alex Shields, 6 and 4. Jack Malcolm, reckoned as the city's premier left-hander, mentioned his name for the honors by ousting L. D. Rines and J. L. Mara, while Norman Wallace, the young sensation and a strong favorite for the laurels took George Straith and Art Christopher into camp in the first and second rounds respectively.

Other well-known golfers to reach the quarter-finals are R. J. Darrus, Frank Thomas, the old standby; C. I. Mackenzie, E. W. Imsay and Walter Hall, the runner-up in the qualifying round. Goldwyn Terry, one of Colwood's youngsters, met with defeat at the hands of C. J. Stevens, 1 up, after extra balls.

Six riders started and finished, with the following times to their credit: L. MacGavin, 1:13:47; J. Taylor, 1:14:11; R. Duncan, 1:15:15; D. Mecredy 1:15:51; H. Hetherington, 1:18:8; L. Harman, 1:22:11.

SOUND AUCTION BRIDGE

By WILBUR C. WHITEHEAD
The World's Greatest Authority

Pre-Emptive Bidding

Auction and Contract Bidding
South, four Spades; all pass.

SALIENT POINTS OF THE BIDDING

Auction: South bids four Spades pre-emptively, although holding strong support for the other Major suit. It is only in exceptional cases that such bidding is sound. South's particular holding admits of almost a sure game in Spades, even though his partner held no Spades and particularly if his partner held length in Hearts. Assuming that game is practically sure in Spades, the pre-emptive bid becomes inessential in order to shut out a possible Minor suit game hand of the opponents. With a low opening bid, West would have been in a position to show with safety both Clubs and Diamonds and could have made a Small Slam in Diamonds.

Contract: This hand illustrates, among other things, the fact that the bidding is frequently the same in Auction and Contract. The object of a pre-emptive bid, whether made originally or in support of partner's bid, is precisely the same in both games, to wit: to shut out if possible suit indications by the opponents who, if given an opportunity to bid cheaply, might arrive at a game contract bid between them. Another principle of the pre-emptive suit bid, whether original or assisting, is that with little or no playing strength against an adverse suit trump, one of two things must happen: Either the pre-emptive bidder and partner will go game, or he fails to go game will save game at small cost.

THE PLAY

West opens with the King of Clubs and Declarer trumps the trick. Declarer then leads the ten of trumps and West holds off, winning the next round with the Ace. West leads the Queen of Diamonds and Declarer comes up with Dummy's Ace. Declarer then leads a Diamond from Dummy and ruffs it, following which, he plays out all his trumps. East, placing the Jack of Diamonds and the Queen of Clubs with West, discards his Clubs and Diamonds, to retain his four Hearts, winning the last trick with the Jack, thereby saving a Slam.

BOOBYALLA IS CHARRED HULK

Uncontrollable Flames Reduce Once Sturdy Motorship to Smoldering Remains Near Victoria

VALIANT BATTLE IS FOUGHT BY SALVORS

A bleak and charred hulk, with water now and then lapping over her sides, the once sturdy motorship Boobyalla swings at her anchor chains dismally smoldering in the breeze in the Royal Roads half a mile off shore near Albert Head and the Esquimalt Lagoon.

With powerful pumps and live steam, the Salvage King's men fought a desperate battle with the devastating fire which broke out at 4 30 o'clock Saturday morning off Discovery Island, only to acknowledge defeat when the ship failed to sink.

All Sunday evening the doomed freighter furnished the curious with plenty of thrills as smoke and flame mounted above her tottering masts. Hundreds of Victorians lined up along Dallas Road to view the ship in her death throes, a ship that was beyond all human aid. Hissing tongues of fire and a dense pall of black smoke told of her oil and shingle cargo being rendered into the elements of which they were originally composed.

Saturday evening in Esquimalt, just off Rosebank, the salvors pumped water into the Boobyalla with hose lines and two large pumps. Working without rest or food, the men, under Mr. T. W. Allan and Captain J. M. Hewison finally had the freighter's deck four feet from the water level. At low tide they had her practically submerged, and it was hoped the sea would flood her holds.

WILL NOT SINK

They had not reckoned, however, with the extreme buoyancy of the vessel's cargo of peanuts, paper and shingles. She was a wooden craft and simply refused to sink, even after holes had been cut in the decks. Hope was given up when the fire continued to rage below at a time when there was three feet more of water inside the Boobyalla than the height from the bottom to the surface of the sea where she was anchored.

Creeping along the dried-out timbers and fed by oil from the five tanks, the fire ate into the ceiling and planking and simply refused to notice the streams of water. Aboard were nearly 1,000 gallons of coal oil, and, when this started to feed the conflagration, salvors realised that nothing could be done. The smoke and heat were terrific and the sturdy Salvage King was constantly menaced with destruction herself. If there had been an explosion of any proportions, many aboard would in all probability have been killed or fatally burned.

With swollen eyes and smoking clothing, the salvors fought a losing battle, undaunted and determined, yet knowing within their hearts that the Boobyalla would never again be a ship. It was a question of getting the fire under control before the blaze spread to the sawmill and lime plant ashore.

Fearing an explosion, the salvors cut through the freighter's 100-fathom anchor chain with an oxy-acetylene torch with fire licking at their boots. The steel decks of the Salvage King were getting uncomfortable to walk on and action had to be taken at once.

CUT ALL CABLES

So intense was the heat and so dense the smoke that it was impossible to reach the stern of the salvage vessel to pull up two of the anchors. Volunteers dashed through the inferno and cut both chains. A 1,000-foot tow line was fastened to the bow of the Boobyalla and after considerable difficulty the King made for deep sea at 5:20 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

After considerabl manoeuvring with the floating torch behind, a point was reached half a mile off shore near Albert Head. Mr. H. Brewer, first officer of the Boobyalla, and Mr. M. L. Evans, first officer of the Salvage King, volunteered to try to get through the fire and drop the port anchor of the freighter in fifteen fathoms. Without a second to spare they reached the bow and managed to let the mud hook go, arriving safely back on the Salvage King as a section of the deck over which they had run, caved in.

A six-inch manila line was run to the bow of the Boobyalla and made fast to the King, so that the other vessel could be kept nearer the beach. The King anchored 300 yards off and waited for daybreak.

During the evening flames soared aloft over the top of the freighter's masts. At intervals, crude oil and coal oil would blow up, throwing cargo high into the air. It was like an oil well afire, those aboard the King said. At 2 o'clock yesterday morning the masts tottered for an instant and fell into the sea with crashes muffled by the roaring of the burning oil.

TO WATER'S EDGE

At daybreak the salvors came alongside the burning mass and played six hose streams over the fire for three hours. The aft end of the Boobyalla, where the fire originated, was practically out, the engines and all machinery having fallen into the hold. By the afternoon the hull had burned down level with the waterline, so the salvors left a launch with two watchmen aboard and steamed for Victoria, docking at 4:30 o'clock.

All that was saved from the fire was one scowload of shingles and some of the men's personal effects. Twenty-two of the crew left for Seattle Sunday afternoon, the remaining three sailing yesterday afternoon.

Worth, with her cargo, approximately $250,000, the Boobyalla is reported to be covered by insurance. What is left of her will probably be towed to deeper water and committed to "Davy Jones' locker."

Three Blamed By Court for Kadiak Mishap

SAN FRANCISCO, May 13.—Three engineers on the steam schooner Kadiak were blamed for the near wreck of the ship off Point Reyes on April 24, in a decision announced yesterday by federal steamboat inspectors. The men involved were deprived of their licences for a period of ninety days.

The inspectors found that John Nairn, Thomas McDonnell and Ragner Carlson, engineers, were unable to start the pumps after the vessel started leaking. The Kakiak was brought into port safely after sending out SOS. calls.

GRAIN SITUATION AT MONTREAL IS STILL ALARMING

MONTREAL, May 13.—Although eleven ships sailed for Europe Saturday and Sunday, carrying a quantity of grain estimated at three-quarters of a million bushels, the grain congestion in Montreal is still regarded as serious. Some eighty lake boats were tied up in the harbor and in the Lachine Canal, awaiting their turn to discharge into the elevators.

Ss. Woodfield passed up to Comox at 4:20 o'clock yesterday morning, and Ss. Deloche passed out to sea at 9, according to Federal Pilots.

VESSELS HELD BY MALASPINA

United States Salmon Trollers Seized Near Prince Rupert for Illegal Entry of B.C. Waters

ADMIRALTY COURT TO METE JUSTICE

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., May 13.—Captain Laird, of the patrol vessel Malaspina, and J. Boyd, acting inspector of fisheries, are still awaiting instructions from Ottawa, following the seizure of the United States trolling boats at Goose Island Harbor. Beyond saying this, they will advance nothing.

VANCOUVER, May 13.—Five United States salmon trollers which were seized by the Canadian patrol boat Malaspina in Goose Island Harbor, B.C., and brought into Prince Rupert Saturday, were taken when the boats were at anchor in a Canadian harbor when weather conditions were favorable and when there was no necessity for shelter, it was stated here today by Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisor of fisheries on the British Columbia coast. One of the boats has since been released.

Treaty provisions between Canada and the United States allow such boats to come into Canadian ports only for wood, water, repairs or shelter.

Major Motherwell said the captured boats would be dealt with in the usual way by the Admiralty Court. They were seized under Section 10, Customs and Fisheries Protection Act, which prohibits foreign vessels from entering Canadian waters for any purpose not permitted by treaty or convention or by any law of Great Britain or of Canada for the time being in force.

"The Canadian fishermen," Major Motherwell said, "complain that foreign boats competing with them on the salmon fishing banks along the coast of British Columbia outside the three-mile limit are making a convenience of Canadian ports contrary to privileges conferred by the treaty."

JUNKERS PLANE FOR FREIGHTING

Vehicle Capable of Carrying 2,088 Pounds Is for Western Canada Service

MONTREAL, May 13.—A Junkers plane, similar to the Bremen, which made history on April 13, 1928, by landing on Greenly Island, in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, completing the first airplane nonstop crossing of the North Atlantic Ocean from east to west, has arrived in Montreal and is being assembled by the Canadian Vickers, Ltd.

The big craft is to be delivered to Western Canada Airways, Ltd., which will use it for transportation work in Western Canada. It is solely a freight carrier machine, like the Bremen, though of a later type and slightly larger. The plane can carry a useful load of 2,088 pounds.

SARNIA, Ont., May 13.—The body of Sidney Chappelle, nineteen, of Vancouver, a sailor on the Ss. Huronic, who lost his life by drowning Saturday morning, was recovered from the St. Clair River Saturday night. The throw line which had dragged Chappelle into the river when it became entangled about his legs while the Huronic was being moored to a dock was tangled about the body.

FOKKER PLANE VISITS PORT

Mr. Norman Yarrow, President of Ysrrow Aircraft Corporation, Arrives in New Type Seaplane

TO CONDUCT SURVEY OF END OF ISLAND

Mr. Norman Yarrow, president of the newly-formed Yarrow Aircraft Corporation, arrived from Vancouver at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the company's Fokker Universal seaplane Elsie, the first seaplane of its kind to visit Vancouver Island.

Accompanying Mr. Yarrow were Mrs. T. Reed-Palmer, Mr. J. N. Brown, Capt. E. C. W. Dobbin, Mr. L. A. Dobbin and Mr. O. R. Dobbin.

The party flew over from Vancouver in forty-five minutes, at times attaining a speed of 120 miles per hour. The seaplane circled over the city and the pilot was made aware of the direction of the wind at Esquimalt by clouds of black smoke, purposely produced by the tall smokestack at Yarrows, Limited.

Powered by a 300-horsepower Wright Whirlwind motor of the latest design, the Elsie can carry six passengers, a pilot and his mechanic, in comfortable upholstered seats. She is fitted with light metal floats equipped with rubber-covered ends for beach landings.

The Yarrow Aircraft Corporation controls the Dominion Airways, of Vancouver, operating three Moth seaplanes equipped with Handley-Page slotted wings for safety. The Elsie will leave for Vancouver this morning and is to return next week to start a survey of the north end of Vancouver Island. At the present time she is being used for forestry patrols, aerial photography and aerial surveys of all kinds.

Armstrong Brothers are installing a six-horsepower, heavy duty Atlas Imperial engine in Mr. O. Bright's new cabin cruiser. Of five tons register, the new craft is 31 feet long and 7.6 feet in beam.

She is of 4,190 tons standard displacement, 451 feet long, 43.10 feet in beam and has a draught of 14 1 feet. With oil-fired boilers she can attain a speed of over twenty-nine knots. # Shawnigan School Receives Donation of Fine Organ

An unusually interesting service took place at Shawnigan Lake Boys' School on Sunday morning, the handsome two-manual organ recently installed being formally dedicated by Rev. J. S. Bastin, rector of All Saints', South Saanich, in the presence of a congregation which completely filled the chapel. The dedication was arranged to coincide with the Ascensiontide and the preacher chose for the text of his sermon St. John xx, 17, "I ascend unto my Father and your Father."

In the afternoon, commencing at 3.30 o'clock, Mr. W. F. Edmonds, of New Westminster, gave an organ recital on the new instrument, the chapel again being filled to capacity. Among those present were several of the governors of the school as well as a few specially invited musicians, among the latter being Mrs. Gertrude Huntley Green, Mr. Harold Davis, Mr F. Waddington and Mr. J. Douglas Macey, all of Victoria, and Mr. Willett, of Duncan.

The new Shawnigan Lake School chapel organ has been built by Mr. Chandos G. Dix, of New Westminster. Mr J. Douglas Macey, of Victoria, formerly connected with Messrs. J. W. Walker & Sons, of London, who will build the organ for the new cathedral here, arranged the specifications for the instrument in consultation with Mr Dix. The finest materials and workmanship have been employed in the construction. Sunday's recital demonstrated that the tone of the organ is rich and varied, and its resources are greatly increased by the complete series of couplers which has been installed.

The instrument, which has been presented anonymously, comes as a completion to the beautiful chapel, itself one of the most recently completed of the fine series of buildings which have been erected to replace the school destroyed three years ago by fire. The organ chamber is over the vestry, and has a frontage of handsome gilt speaking pipes which ornament the wall on the south wall of the chancel. The console has been placed in a specially constructed chamber communicating with the chancel, beyond the choir stalls.

Hand blowing has been provided in addition to the electrical mechanical blowing, but as the latter method had not been completely installed on Sunday some of the boys from the school assisted in the organ loft.

SENTIMENT HAS QUICK CHANGE

FEELING ABROAD CAUSES FIRMER UNDERTONE ON CHICAGO MARKET

News Largely Bullish From All Quarters—Stocks at Lakes Show Small Gain for Week

(B C Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

CHICAGO, May 13.—There appeared to be a decided change of sentiment in wheat abroad and more converts to the idea that wheat values are low enough. Our market consequently showed a firmer undertone from the start, as there was considerable buying by houses that have been on the selling side for a long time.

The news was largely bullish and in addition to a sharp advance at Liverpool, told of continued wet weather in the Southwest and in parts of the South Winter states, dry conditions in Argentina, with extended acreage there this season likely not to show the customary increase, and a better tone at Winnipeg.

Seaboard bids for durum wheat at Duluth were reported, Nos. 1 and 2 higher, and it was claimed that some No. 2 hard Winters had been worked for export.

The visible supply decreased 4,321 bushels for the week. The Interstate Commerce Commission approved the reduction in import rates on grain by the railroads. Stocks at Port William and Port Arthur showed a small gain for the week, however, an unusual development at this time, when the movement down the lake is generally heavy. The congestion at Buffalo promises to be relieved soon, that point advising that 30,000,000 bushels of wheat would be moved within two weeks.

Some profit taking near the end closed the market a little under opening levels. Would adhere to a trading position as we do not believe present levels will be maintained at this time, unless bullish news continues.

Railway Employees Fond of Gardening

WINNIPEG, May 13.—The work of distributing the seeds, perennials and shrubs for the employees' gardens along the right-of-way of the Canadian Pacific in Western Canada is about over, and amateur gardeners in all sections of the country are busy with plans for the beautification of their property. J. R. Almey, recently appointed horticulturist, reports that more than 30,000 shrubs have been sent out, and close on 2,000 perennials, mostly Canterbury bells, delphiniums, peonies and snapdragons, are ready for shipment.

Nearly 1,600 packages of seeds, each containing ten varieties, have been forwarded in station and section men.

It is reported that more than sixty new gardens will be planted by agents, and the fact that one ton of lawn grass seed will be required gives some idea of the scope of the work covered by Mr. Almey and his assistants. There are now thirty professional gardens on Western lines, but the interest for competition centres round the amateur efforts of the men and women in lonely spots, whose gardens are a joy to the travel-weary eye.

Poplars and maples to the number of 3,000 trees of four or five years have been distributed for use around section foremen's homes.

An effort is being made to introduce the sturdy carrigana as a medium for snow traps. Manitoba maple and willow with evergreen have been used extensively, but with not the greatest success because of unevenness of growth. Carrigana, requiring fairly dry land, should flourish in the cuts where protection from snow is most needed. The new growth for the protection of the right-of-way is being used at ten points on the Prairie, and will be watched with interest by kitchen gardeners as well as by railway men.

Mr K. Symonds is having a new Dubrie five-horsepower engine installed in his launch by Armstrong Brothers. Mr. George Robinson's workboat Norah J. is at the plant to have an eighteen-horsepower Frisbie engine installed.

B.C. SAFETY LEAGUE IS READY FOR DRIVE

VANCOUVER, May 13.—With A. M. Manson as chief speaker, the British Columbia Saftey League held its final luncheon here today, prior in its "safety drive," from May 16 to 23, inclusive. The drive will be largely an educational campaign in traffic safety, and on Monday and Tuesday next lessons in traffic safety will be taught in every school throughout the city. During the same two days, the B.C. Electric Railway will have fifty or sixty lecturers speaking on street cars on the subject of "Public Safety."

With ninety-four tons of cargo from the United Kingdom for discharge Ss. Parthenia, of the Donaldson Line, is expected here on Wednesday, according to Mr A. E. Shanks, of Rithet Consolidated, Limited.

DELEGATES REPORT TO LOCAL COUNCIL

May Meeting Hears Summary of Recent Educational Conference

A masterly survey of the recent Conference on Education held here and in Vancouver, under the auspices of the National Council of Education, was given at the May meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon by Mrs. MacLean and Mrs. J. W. Gibson, who were the Local Council representatives. Mrs. MacLean dealt with the first part of the conference, Mrs. Gibson with the closing days, each presenting in very able manner the salient points in each section, and sketching in outline the addresses by the various speakers. Mrs. Gibson was particularly impressed with the Japanese contribution, Japan, to her mind, having sent the most representative national thing in her jiu-jitsu team. Was Canada, she wondered, able to send anything so really typical to a conference of the kind? Both yesterday's speakers were enthusiastically applauded, and heartily thanked by the president, Miss Crease, for their splendid reports.

Mrs. J. W. H. Holmes took the chair while Miss Crease reported for the Empire shopping week committee. She made an appeal for the support of Empire products particularly during this week, May 25 to June 1, when Victoria stores, with the exception of the three largest, viz., the Hudson's Bay Company, Spencer's, Ltd., and Angus Campbell's, would compete in a window-dressing contest with Empire products, prizes to be awarded on May 23.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the table, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods without turning.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Esquimalt drydock at any tide, add 18 6 feet to the height of high water as given above.

To find the depth of water on the sill of the Songhees drydock add 30 feet to the height of high water as above given.

Fireproof Walls and Ceilings at No Extra Cost

For Basements

MOST house fires start in the furnace room. It is there that fire usually gets a start and spreads unless stopped by fireproof walls and ceilings.

This hazard can be effectively eliminated by lining the basement walls and ceilings with Gyproc.

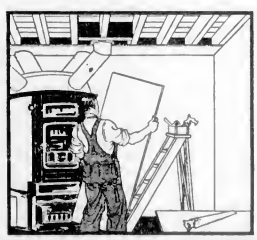

Why not remove this dangerous risk? And at the same time why not partition off the entire basement into extra rooms—a fruit closet, furnace room, workshop or children's playroom?

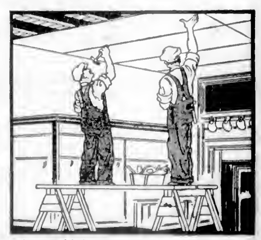

Doing so will make a clean, attractive basement and keep dust from going through the floors—the walls and ceilings will take any decoration, Alabastine, paint or wallpaper. The basement can be made as clean and attractive as any other floor in the house.

For Stores and Factories

HUNDREDS of modern stores and factories are reducing the fire hazard and adding protection to their stock by erecting ceilings and walls of fireproof Gyproc Wallboard. They are doing this not only because Gyproc is the best fire-proof Gypsum Wall Board on the market, but because it actually costs less than many materials that have no fire-resisting qualities whatever.

Gyproc cannot warp, shrink or buckle and takes any decoration. A perfectly smooth, flat surface is assured by filling the joints with Gyproc Joint Filler. No other wallboard offers such ease of application, labor saving and economy. Gyproc is 3/8 inch thick, 6 feet to 10 feet long and 48 inches wide.

See any of the Gyproc dealers listed below.

BEARS DRIVE TRADERS INTO RUSH TO SELL

Copper Stocks Disposed of Rapidly, Aviation Hard Hit and Radio Takes Tumble

MONEY EASY BUT NOT SO OPERATOR

NEW YORK, May 13.—Comparatively easy money appeared to have come to Wall Street too late today, for nerves were so frayed by the persistence of 14 per cent call money last week that bears were able to drive traders into a headlong rush to sell, although funds were in adequate supply at only 7 per cent all day.

Copper stocks sold off rapidly, Anaconda dropping more than 8 points. Greene Cananea and Kennecott lost 5 each, but made up some of their losses toward the close.

Aviation stocks were hard hit, United Aircraft dropping about 14 points to 127, but closing just above 141. Radio tumbled about 6 points to 92 and closed at 94. Case Threshing dropped 28 points to 397 in a small turnover. In the motors Chrysler dropped more than 5 points to a new 1929 low.

General Electric, which reached a new high last week on rumors of a split-up, dropped 6 points to 258, but closed at 262. American Can, a recent strong point, made an extreme loss of over 7 points. Chemicals were under heavy pressure, Commercial Solvents losing 15 points.

Allied Chemical, Allis Chalmers, Bethlehem Steel and United States Steel, Electric Autolite, Houston Oil, Johns-Manville, International Telephone, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck, Western Union and U.S. Industrial Alcohol were among issues selling 4 to 8 points lower.

Foreign exchanges were fairly steady, although sterling cables were a shade lower at 4.85 3-16.

The active semi-speculative convertible bonds listed on the exchange slid downward with the stocks today as traders surveyed the credit outlook nervously.

Whitney Letter

(B.C. Bond Corporation, Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 13.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Service, says:

The rumor factory was at work today, and, before the market was half over, was operating at a rate of capacity exceeded only by the current operations of the U.S. Steel Corporation. The net result is lower prices as the result of selling by that class of speculator who can be induced to part with stocks or buy them on no sounder fundamental than gossip.

The opening contribution came from a large wire house, which involved the ingenious explanation for the decline in call money by attributing it to the fact that big interests had sold out their stocks to the public and that, therefore, stocks were going down and the call money rate was already down. That is a classic. Following this, and encouraged by the publication in Sunday's papers of the Burgess-Sprague report on money and credit conditions—a report based on conditions already months old—but which received a lot of attention due to the name of the committee—Hoover committee on recent economic changes, the rumors had Secretary Mellon as resigned, which he isn't, an advance in the rediscount rate on Thursday, which it won't be, and the Federal Reserve Board called into special session by President Hoover, closing the day with more mystery to the effect that a bearish statement would come from Washington overnight.

Taken all in all, we had about the most idiotic day which could be imagined. There will undoubtedly be a carry-over of selling in the early part of tomorrow's session, if for no other reason than the selling produced by those who always sell because the market has declined and find it an equally good reason for buying because the market has advanced. I believe you will see the bottom of this reaction in the first hour tomorrow and it is recommended that the first hour be used to buy the issues which have been previously mentioned here.

The rail group has given a wonderful performance and clearly indicates that it is on the threshold of a decided advance. In addition to the purchase of Missouri Pacific, which established a new top yesterday, and Erie, which crossed 75, I believe there should be added promptly Atchison around 200, Southern Pacific around 130, New Haven around 98, Missouri Kansas & Texas under 50, and Canadian Pacific. In the utilities take advantage of this reaction to buy American & Foreign Power, Consolidated Gas, and Electric Power & Light. In the oil group look upon current prices as bargain prices for such issues as Standard Oil of N.J., Standard Oil of N.Y., Pan-American and Atlantic Refining.

Other sound issues which should be acquired on this reaction are California Packing, Texas Gulf Sulphur, Associated Dry Goods, National Distilleries, Marine preferred and in the copper group Kennecott in particular.

WAVE OF STRENGTH SWEEPS BOARD AT TORONTO OPENING

Falconbridge Nickel Mines Feature for the Session—Sterling Pacific and Mayland Lead Oils

(Stobie, Forlong & Co.)

TORONTO, May 13.—The wave of strength that swept the board at opening this morning receded slightly during the session. Falconbridge Nickel was the mines feature on reports that the property was nearing a very important stage of development. The stock jumped more than $2 and then eased off to close $1 up. Sudbury Basin and Ventures moved in sympathy, making a net gain of 25c and 15c respectively.

Sterling Pacific and Mayland led the oils, returning near levels touched early last week.

Demand pushed Newbec to 64c high and trading was practically steady at that level most of the session. Later, stocks dropped off, showing a net gain at the close of only 1 1-2c. Pend Oreille had good support and touched $5.25. The strength is unaccounted for apart from mention of "Smelters." Kirkland Lake was a shade better. Mining Corporation, Teck Hughes, Wright-Hargreaves and Big Missouri were firm. Abana, Amulet and Arno were easier.

In oils, Associated dropped 20 points. Dalhousie lost 20 points, A.P.C. dropped 40 points, Southwest Petroleum 50 points and Home Oil 50 points. Eastcrest had good support and gained 10c during the session. Call money, 7 per cent.

Money at Work

Earning—Saving—Investing

People get "stung" in real estate in many different ways.

There are many different ways of getting "stung" in real estate investments. Some are legitimate ways and some are crooked, and the classes of persons who get stung range from the little fellow who buys lots that he never sees or the ignorant fellow who buys the City Memorial Hall with a down payment of a few hundred dollars, to the big merchant who goes broke because he over extended himself by erecting a building that was too large and expensive.

But in almost every case people are stung because they buy without studying the property and estimating its future possibilities accurately. The investor in a piece of real estate should remember that real estate is a business of many branches and angles and that it is just as important to investigate before investing in real estate as it is to investigate before investing in stocks or bonds.

PRICES DECLINE IN MOST GROUPS

Oils Are Exception and Hold Firm in Early Dealings—Oils React Moderately

NEW YORK, May 13.—The selling movement that started in the final hour of trading on Saturday was resumed at the outset of trading today, and prices in practically all groups worked lower. In some quarters the feeling existed that a large part of the selling was inspired by the recent report of the committee on economic changes which covered conditions relating to the New York money market. Chrysler was under continued heavy pressure and the weakness in this particular stock had an unsettling effect upon the entire list.

Rails were the exception and held firm in the early dealings chiefly on expectations of a possible decision on the O'Fallon case by the Supreme Court today. Oil shares were forced to react moderately on selling that was accompanied by an announcement of discontinuation of restriction programme in the State of Oklahoma.

However, this announcement was partially offset by reports indicating that further curtailment of petroleum production had been ordered in California. Some of the rubber shares exhibited good form in the early transactions and both issues followed the release of the rubber report today which showed a good-sized increase in consumption during the month of April over that for the month of March. In fact the figures released established a new all-time record for monthly consumption.

Outside news was of a favorable nature. Numerous first quarter statements of the various corporations continue to make their appearance, and, in practically all instances, show good-sized gains over the same period a year ago. Reports of trade conditions continue to show good volume of business under way at the present time. Call money renewed at 7 per cent and remained at that figure throughout the day. On the posting of the renewal rate some buying was attracted and the general list rallied moderately. However, the rally was short lived and a number of the issues were forced to absorb further liquidation.

In the afternoon dealings the copper group were outstanding features of weakness and practically all issues, including Anaconda and Smelters, sustained sharp losses. The stock market has been subjected to a rather severe purging of late and technical position would seem to be much stronger than for some time past. It looks as though many issues are becoming rather attractive again from a buyer's viewpoint.

Calgary and Edmonton Corporation, Limited

The developments of the past few months and the striking production results obtained in the Alberta oil fields, have established beyond all reasonable doubt the existence of a huge reservoir of petroleum products in that area. We therefore feel that a brief outline of the position of what we consider to be the most conservative and at the same time one of the most promising aspects in the whole situation, will be of interest to our clients.

Calgary and Edmonton Corporation, Limited, is the Canadian successor to the old Calgary and Edmonton Land Company, Limited. It has acquired and holds the natural gas, petroleum and mineral rights on over one million acres of potential oil lands in Southern Alberta. This area covers a strip from the Turner Valley south to the International Boundary Line and blankets some of the most promising areas that geologists have investigated.

The company is not a drilling company, but operates under a strict royalty arrangement with its lessees. The general royalty policy is 12½ per cent on production until the drilling expenses are paid, and after that from 20 to 25 per cent. It is expected that from twenty-five to thirty wells will shortly be drilling on the company's property, and among the important companies now carrying on operations on C. and E. lands are Sterling Pacific, Merland, Advance, Mayland, Lowery Petroleum, Royalite, Imperial, Commonwealth, Marlaod and Nordon Corporation.

The issued capital of the company is 2,415,000 shares of no par value.

Unquestionably the company is the greatest oil royalty company in Canada, and the most spectacular portion of its history is just beginning.

We are trading in the above stock if, as and when issued at best possible market price.

Wall Street Journal

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, May 13.—Wide price declines featured the day's session in the stock market. Leadership in the reaction was taken largely by a speculative group, which has been responsible for much of the recent advances in the popular issues. These large traders turned bearish on the market apparently when cheap money failed to bring a public following.

Accompanying the selling was a flood of rumors of various kinds, most of which were without foundation. One had it that Secretary Mellon had turned in his portfolio to President Hoover, a report which met prompt denial at Washington. Another gossip story was that the President would issue a statement endorsing the attitude of the Federal Reserve Board, but this, too, could not be confirmed. Still another sidelight was the assurance of large traders, temporarily turned bearish, of a rediscount rate advance this week. Motors were attacked on reports of unemployment in factories, these reached the silly stage in the view of one commentator when they had it that one big manufacturer had laid off 8,000 men.

Nevertheless, these rumors were the basis of much of the selling, which was augmented by some commission houses turning bearish and suggesting to clients reduction of commitments.

While there was a real selling movement under way most of the day, some leading houses were unwilling to follow such leadership, inasmuch as they were not much impressed with the same leaders when they were sponsoring the advance in recent weeks.

WHEAT REGAINS SOME STRENGTH

WINNIPEG'S RECOVERY DEPENDENT ON STRENGTH IN OUTSIDE MARKETS

Little in Situation to Warrant Higher Prices—Coarse Grains Dull and Featureless

(Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, May 13. — Wheat: Stronger today with prices reaching about 1c above the close Saturday. Most of the strength here was derived from the strength in outside markets, with Liverpool, Buenos Aires and Chicago all sharply higher. Trade volume was light, but a little more friendly feeling existed among locals, and at one time when the market showed signs of heaviness, four or five brokers commenced buying, which was again understood to be for the pool.

There was little export business worked over the week-end. Only a small trade passing in cash wheat, but offerings were again light. Millers were after the three and four grades, and spreads on these were firm to fractionally better. The demand from shippers for the lower grades was not heavy. From light to heavy showers in many districts of Canadian West over the week-end. More are promised today and Tuesday.

Supplies of wheat are large in all positions in this country, and judging from world supplies and requirements there does not appear to be anything in the situation to warrant higher prices except that present levels are low. Would not care to press selling side on breaks, but think bulges will be hard to hold without a radical change in crop news or the statistical position.

Coarse grains: Oats were dull, with little feature. There was a fair inquiry for barley, but business is still, owing to shipping conditions, so many boats being tied up in the East with wheat. Rye was firmer, following wheat and closing stronger.

Flax: No feature, a little local support to the deferred futures.

Eastern Markets

News and Comment on Business Supplied by R. P. Clark & Co. (Victoria), Limited

MORNING STOCK LETTER

We believe the public utilities have been meeting with realizing and expect the advance in this group to become less aggressive. At times on Saturday the market looked like a one-stock affair, so much was the interest concentrated on United Corporation. The stock gained further ground, but we believe that it is in a profit-taking area for those who bought it for trading purposes.

The general list showed no great confidence on Saturday, and there seemed to be disappointment over the fact that outside demand for stocks was not stimulated more by the easing in call rates on Friday. We believe that it is unsafe to take for granted that money will continue to be as easy as it was on that day, and the feeling persists that a return to somewhat higher rates may be anticipated. Traders are quite willing to accept moderate profits and to confine attention to a small number of stocks at one time.

News from automobile centres is somewhat at variance with the action of motor stocks. A moderate curtailment in output in the next few months is conceded, but sales of motor cars in the current quarter should continue on an upward trend, which will prevent the piling up of an unusual number of unsold cars in the hands of dealers. Judging from the action of principal motor stocks, it would seem as if Wall Street is somewhat unwilling to accept this view, but on the other hand, inclined to believe that there may possibly develop shortly more unevenness and irregularity in the profits of some of the motor manufacturers.

STOCK OPINIONS

Hile & Stieglitz—We still continue very partial to the rail and oil groups.

Hirsch, Lilienthal & Co.—We believe that the oil stocks offer the greatest opportunity, and would buy Standard Oil issues, Mexican Seaboard, Richfield Oil and Barnsdall "A" on any slight recession, for the long pull.

Hornblower & Weeks—We believe that the tone of the market will continue constructive during the early part of the week.

WALL STREET MIRROR

A new group has been buying Chicago Pneumatic Tool, which is a Schwab company, the largest manufacturer of automatic tools in the country: furthermore it has its plants in Canada, Scotland and Germany. Net income is more than double that of the same period last year. There are slightly more than 200,000 shares of the new common outstanding, and this is very closely held, inasmuch as there has been no dividend declaration on the stock as yet, earnings would seem to suggest a rate of $1.50 or $2.00. The sharp advance in United Corporation has brought profit-taking into the stock. Among the rails which give promise of steady improvement and activity, Erie stands out, and a price of above $80 a share is close at hand. Little has been heard of St. Paul issues recently, but it is learned that some people who got into New Haven well below 80 have been switching into St. Paul, seeing the same sort of a move there over a long pull.

COMING EVENTS

Erie offers good speculative possibilities at current levels. The company's earnings have shown a marked upward trend in the past few years, and it is likely that preferred dividends will be inaugurated in the near future. The rails in general have done little marketwise, but, if a favorable decision should be rendered in the O'Fallon case this group should come in for a great deal more activity and Erie should be among the leaders. North American has established itself in new high territory and is likely to go higher. We would buy it at the market.

American Bosch Magneto has completed its technical correction, and from now should continue its up trend. Earnings have shown a material gain so far this year and net for 1929 should warrant a price of around 90 for Bosch. Packard is meeting with excellent buying. The issue should carry further on the current move. Its new plant for the manufacture of Diesel type airplane engines is progressing rapidly and the company is expected to be in production on these units by the latter part of June. The new plant has an output capacity of about 600 motors per month and this new division of Packard's activities has possibilities which have not been fully reflected in market prices.

Westinghouse Electric still offers excellent opportunities for semi-speculative investment; would buy this stock for a substantial move.

Development of Banana Trade Lies in the West

President of West Indies Company States That Possibility of Expansion of Tropical Fruit Business Left to Westerners

With the announcement that navel oranges go off the produce market this week a shortage in this fruit was feared, but with the first shipments of Valencia and Jaffa oranges in storage ready for distribution to the retailers, this anxiety was completely wiped away, local jobbers asserted.

An announcement has reached the city from Mr. J. M. Pringle, president of the Canada West Indies Fruit Company, Limited, from the Eastern Provinces, stating that the possibility of the expansion of the banana trade of Canada lies in the West. He further pointed out that Eastern Canada, comprising Ontario, Quebec and the Maritimes, is at present well supplied with this tropical fruit. The first shipment to reach Canada under the new treaty is handled by the Canada West Indies Fruit Company and is made up of 50,000 bunches.

This shipment was brought to Montreal by the Lady Somers of the Canadian National Steamships, completing its first voyage from the tropics to Canada. Of the consignment about thirteen cars were sent to Winnipeg for distribution further West, fifty-nine car lots were split between Ontario and Quebec, while three moved on to the Maritime Provinces.

By this statement, it can easily be seen that the East is well supplied with bananas, while in the West the supply is well below the average. Today, there are large territories west of Manitoba which are lacking in the fruit which they are constantly anxious to buy.

The problem of the banana producers in Jamaica, whose product must take the place in Western Canada of that from South America, is to educate the taste of the buyers of the West. Previously the West has been only willing to purchase nine-hand bunches, while in Montreal there exists a market for banana stems of from six to eight hands. When the Westerners come around to the point of view of the Easterners and accept six, seven or eight-hand stems there will be a greater mart for bananas west of Winnipeg.

The fruit arriving in Montreal is in perfect condition, according to Mr. Pringle.

Getting back to the local situation, the dealers stated that Victoria is comparatively well supplied with the tropical fruit as they are acquiring their quantities from Mexico and New Orleans.

Rhubarb reached its lowest price Friday and, therefore, practically all available stocks were absorbed by ready purchasers. Increased offerings were noted in young beets, turnips, carrots, head lettuce, green peas, sweet potatoes, new potatoes, green onions and leeks.

Another small shipment of Tangerine oranges arrived and will help to solve the orange problem. Cuban pineapples made their initial appearance.

MARKET WELL STOCKED WITH COMMODITIES

Increased Offerings of Almost Every Line of Produce Noted at Victoria Public Market

EGG QUOTATIONS REMAIN THE SAME

An increased offering of dressed poultry and a good display of potatoes along with a proportionate steadiness in quotations and a huge business in flowers and bedding-out plants were the features at the Victoria Public Market Building Saturday morning.

The displays of the florists and market gardeners were slightly above the average. Carnations and tulips were conspicuous among the cut blooms and a beautiful showing of cyclamen marked the advance of another variety of potted culture in full bloom. Seasonable blooms, wild, garden and hothouse, were to be had at almost any stall occupied by a florist and a very brisk business was the result.

For the farm and dairy vendors it was an extremely busy day, for from early morning until late in the afternoon they were kept going serving ready purchasers. A special price was placed on fowl yesterday by the majority of the stall-holders, and as a result many of the vendors sold out by noon.

For about the sixth Saturday in succession the egg quotations remained at the same level. Specials brought 35c; extras, 32c; firsts, 30c and pullet extras, 27c a dozen. Pee wees will not be seen on the mart for some time due to heavy supply of pullet extras, dealers declared.

Increased offerings of local vegetables, fish, meat and other commodities were also noted.

NAME OF LAKE FAILS TO SHOW ITS LOCALITY

Cumberland Board Asks for Alteration in Nomenclature of Lake Near City —Misunderstood

VALUE OF PROPOSED WHARF AT LAKE

CUMBERLAND, May 13.—At a recent meeting of the executive of the Cumberland Board of Trade, the question of making application for the altering of the name Comox or Puntledge Lake to that of Lake Cumberland, was considered. The point that the executive has in view is, that to a stranger or tourist the name at present is misleading. A tourist judging by the name would form the opinion that the lake was situated at the village of Comox, whereas it is some ten miles away and has no connection whatever with the village of Comox. Lake Cumberland, it was considered, would be much more appropriate, as it is only two miles distant from the city of Cumberland and is the favorite playground for the citizens of Cumberland, and furthermore, it would convey to the tourist the location of the lake.

What is now known as Comox, or Puntledge, Lake, to give it its real name, is one of the most beautiful lakes in the Province, and coupled with its magnificent surroundings, there is every reason to believe that in the not too far distant future it will be a famous Summer resort, attracting tourists from all over the world. It is also within easy access of the famous Forbidden Plateau, which the Courtenay Board of Trade is endeavoring to have set aside for park purposes. The members of the Cumberland Board of Trade are very enthusiastic concerning the possibilities of the lake, and their first move will be to have the name changed to Lake Cumberland.

JOCK'S POINT WHARF

In view of the fact that in the very near future, five or six hundred men will be employed by the Comox Logging & Railway Company on what is to be known as Lake Cumberland, the executive of the local Board of Trade made application to Mr A W Neill, district member in the Federal Parliament, for a floating wharf or landing stage at Jock's Point. This point is to be the terminus of the provincial road now nearing completion. Upon receipt of the application, the Federal member took prompt action, and as a result Mr. J. P Forde, resident district engineer of the Department of Public Works of Canada, stationed at Victoria, arived in Cumberland Thursday. Mr Forde had luncheon with the executive of the Board of Trade and then proceeded to the lake to investigate the possibilities of a landing stage, being accompanied by several well-known local business men.

The investigation was most thorough, and it now depends on Mr Forde's report to the Federal department whether a landing stage will be built or not.

One big advantage such a landing stage would have, would be the ease with which connection could be made with the camps on the lake in the event of an accident. Within ten minutes of reaching the landing stage a patient could be in hospital, and this no doubt would be the means of saving many lives.

CANADIAN WHEAT POOL BLAMED BY SYDNEY EDITOR

SYDNEY, Australia, May 13.—The Financial Times quoted a leading member of the Australian wheat trade as attributing the decline in wheat prices to the operations of the Canadian wheat pool. The statement quoted is:

"The present debacle is the result of propaganda by professional farm agitators with fancy schemes for raising prices and thereby inducing farmers to increase their acreages. The large quantity of wheat pooled in Canada is a menace to true value being established. Farmers should hold their wheat on their farms and not accumulate enormous visible supplies controlled by a few individuals in charge of pools. The aggregation of wheat under the control of a few individuals becomes a menace to the basic law of supply and demand."

AUSTRALIA SENDS TARIFF NOTE TO U.S.

WASHINGTON, May 13.—Australia, through the British Embassy, has submitted to the State Department a memorandum dealing with the proposed readjustment of United States tariff schedules.

"The Government of the Commonwealth fears," the memorandum says, "that increasing pressure will tend to divert Australian trade from the United States to British countries and to foreign countries with which the Commonwealth has favorable trade relations."

The invisible difference

Many motor oils look alike, but there is a vast difference in the way they perform. Unfortunately this difference is difficult to detect.

The invisible difference which makes one motor oil better than another must be inherent in the crude from which it is made.

There you have the reason why Marvelube gives better engine lubrication than oils refined from ordinary crudes. Imperial Oil searched the world over for a better crude—and in South America they found it.

From it they make Marvelube—a pure, carbon-free, full-bodied oil that resists the extreme heats and pressures of modern engine operation.

Aircraft operators prefer Marvelube because better lubrication means greater safety and longer intervals between overhauls. Motorists prefer Marvelube because it is the ideal oil for modern motors. It ensures greater power, greater flexibility and greater economy.

There is a grade of Marvelube refined to meet exactly the specifications of your car. Consult the Marvelube Chart at Imperial Oil service stations and dealers.
